What is JQA?

Established in 1957, as a designated inspection body under Japan's Export Inspection Law, JQA first inspected products to be exported from Japan. It has now developed into a third-party certification organization that offers comprehensive services such as testing of electrical equipment, calibration of measuring instruments, evaluation based on international and Japanese standards, including ISO and JIS, verification of the amount of greenhouse gas emissions as well as the assessment of the latest robots. We have been actively engaged in the development and delivery of services that focus on addressing environmental issues and reducing the businesses' environmental loads.
