

The power of the stones

... Then she started wondering around. There were several paintings of the previous clans' members on the brick walls. Sarah went down the aisle, when suddenly an old woman found her.

„What are you doing here?” - she asked furiously.

„I am so sorry but I am not living here” – Sarah replied. She felt a little bit terrified. - „You are not going to believe me but I am from the 21st century. Me and my husband were on our honeymoon and we went to the Callanish stones and somehow I fell over and hit my head on a rock” – she explained. - „I don't know how I got here but when I opened my eyes I found myself in this castle.”

„I believe you, my child.” – She said softly. „You can't stay here because it's a dangerous place for a woman like you. They can't find out that you are from the future because this fact would terrify them.”

The servant looked around suspiciously. The torchlights were shimmering and the aisle was empty. She tried to rely on her historical knowledge and she found out that the leader of the castle was Matthew Campbell.

Sarah wanted to explore the whole castle, so she asked the servant to bring her some food for the journey back home. After that Sarah went upstairs and she found a door. Behind it she heard some noise. Against the servant's advice she entered in.

It was a spacious, ornamental throne-room. There was a huge red carpet which led to the throne. Then Sarah looked up and found him. She stared deeply into his beautiful, sparkly green eyes. She couldn't comprehend the fact that she saw a historical figure alive.

Sarah has always loved history and it was a cathartic experience for her. He had short red hair. He wore a kilt and a white shirt. He was really well-built and handsome as well. She couldn't take her eyes off of him.

In contrast with Sarah, Matthew found that woman strange. She wore pants which were made of unknown material and a colourful top. Also, he didn't know why she looked at him that way.

„Who is she?” – Someone shouted from the crowd.

Everybody stared at her and she was so nervous. At this point, she thought the servant was right and she shouldn't have opened the door. The whole crowd buzzed up, everybody screamed and they demanded to lock her up.

Matthew tolerated this madness for a while but at the end, he stood up from the throne and spoke up:

„Enough is enough!” – He shouted. – „Continue the parade, I will take care of her.” – He said.

The leader started to walk up to her. Sarah was frightened because of his appearance. He grabbed her arm and tug her to the tomb. He locked her up.

„I didn't do anything, Sir!” – Sarah shouted.

„You will stay here until I find who are you and what do you want.” – He replied.

Sarah’s only chance to get out was slipped away.
